E. W. Johnson & Company's

1918 PRICE LIST OF STRAWBERRY PLANTS

Together with our 1918 price list, we wish to thank our many friends and patrons for their confidence and continued support, and especially do we thank them for their kind recommendations, which have contributed largely to a very satisfactory increase in our business.

You will notice we did not issue a catalogue this season as we usually do. Everything necessary to produce a good crop of plants has advanced considerably during this war, which has caused most nurserymen to advance their prices. This we did not want to do, and in order to keep our prices down we were compelled to keep our expense as low as possible, giving our customers as good plants as can be produced anywhere, by anybody, at cost of production plus a reasonable profit for ourselves.

For the benefit of those who have never bought plants from us, we wish to say that we do not sell anything that we would not be willing to buy were we in the market for such, and that each package sent out by us is guaranteed true-to-name and to please you or we will refund your money as cheerfully as we have taken it. May we have your order?

Yours very truly,

E. W. JOHNSON & CO.
